

TEXAS'S OPIOID PROBLEM IS GETTING WORSE

SAFETY TRAINING FOR 1ST RESPONDERS

Instructor: Matt Gutwill, President of the New England
Narcotics Enforcement Officers' Association

What you can't see can kill you! In the last three years, DEA has seen a significant resurgence in fentanyl related seizures and identified at least 15 other deadly, fentanyl-related compounds. Illicit Fentanyl use is HERE in Texas and poses an extreme threat to the public and our first responders. The Texas Narcotic Officers' Association is hosting a one of a kind critical safety training for drug enforcement officers, uniformed patrol officers, firefighters, paramedics, and lab chemist/evidence custodians. TCOLE will be available for LEO's and reported by CLEAT.
